PARIS, August 12.—In the Assembly to-day, M. He broke his fast, it is claimed, by eating ice cream, and his congregation are determined to remove him. This forenoon he proceeded to officiate as usual, and found another Rabbi occupying his desk. An affray ensued, during which the leading officers of the church seized Rabbi Hurzman, divested him of his sacerdotal robes, conducted him unceremoniously to the synagogue door, and told him to leave in peremptory language, threatening, if he returned, to kick him into the street. Mr. Hurzman repaired to the police headquarters and made a complaint of the outrage, but was informed by a police officer that he could do nothing. Mr. Hurzman has occupied his position about three months, and he intends to prosecute for one year's salary and for an assault.

ST. LOUIS.

The Late Express Robbery.

ST. LOUIS, August 12.—D. W. Sauter, United States Express delivery messenger, whose wagon was robbed here recently, and who is under arrest for being implicated in the robbery, confesses that he was concerned in it. He tells two or three different stories about being approached, some months ago, by a man whose name he conceals, and urged to assist in robbing the company. This he resisted, but the man's appeals were so persistent and continual, that he finally yielded under an influence he could not withstand, and entered into the robbery. J. Scanlon and Thos. Grady, who are also under arrest, robbed the wagon. Kendall, the driver, knew nothing of the affair. The party who planned the robbery, and who is supposed to have the money, is known to the police, but for reasons deemed sufficient by them they have not yet arrested him, although he is known to be in the city.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

WASHINGTON, August 12, 1871.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President has appointed James Berney and Claudius Grant, of Michigan, Commissioners for their State at the Centennial Celebration of American Independence at Philadelphia; Postmasters J. W. Lewis, Barnesville, Ohio; Lemuel Saviers, Tecumseh, Mich.; William W. Presbury, of California, who for the past two years has been employed in the office of the Secretary of the Senate, has received the appointment of the journal and minute clerk to the Senate, to fill the vacancy created by the death of John C. Burch.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Secretary of the Interior to-day received the following letter from the Secretary of War:

Sir:—In connection with the War Department letter of the 16th of June, stating that copies of your communication and enclosures relative to certain Santee, Yankton, and other Sioux Indians, had been referred to the Commanding General of the Department of Dakotah, I have the honor to enclose herewith, for your information and consideration, extracts from the reports of the Commanding General of the Department of Dakotah, and other officers having knowledge of the Indians, and a copy of the endorsement expressing the views of the General of the army on the subject. From these reports will be seen the desirability of maintaining friendly relations with the Indians now in Montana, at least until spring opens, when the Government will be in a much better condition for repelling hostile demonstrations made by them. As a matter of expediency as well as kindness to the Indians themselves, I would suggest that while peaceable they be supplied with rations the same as the Sioux Inians at that agency who are friendly to whites, and thus give them an opportunity for improvement.

Very respectfully,

WM. W. BELKNAP, Sec'y.

The enclosures consist of extracts from the reports of Major Lewis, of the Seventh Infantry, General Hancock, General Sheridan and General Sherman. Major Lewis reports the presence of a considerable band of Santee, Yankton and other Sioux in Montana, attracted there by large herds of buffalo in that region and recommends the policy of keeping them quiet by feeding them at the Milk river agency. He also gives it as the opinion of the settlers at Benton that the Blackfeet, Piegans and Bloods will go into the British possessions and remain there from fear of the Sioux. Major General Hancock, in forwarding the report, concurs with the report, and adds that if these Indians are fed and allowed to remain where they are until they commit some overt act of hostility, either against hostile or friendly Indians under our protection, I believe the matter would be judiciously disposed of. In this event the Grosventres and Assinibones should be satisfied or compensated for this occupation of territory which has been recognized as their own, which can easily and readily be done, and the Sioux should be notified of the condition on which they are permitted temporarily or permanently to remain. The feeding of the Indians I have no control over, and therefore cannot act in that direction. I believe eventually we shall have trouble in that section, which will make it necessary for us to settle the Indian question. We have not cavalry and other force enough in Montana or high up the Missouri to permit us to think of settling this question at the present time. I think the settlement of it should be deferred, if possible, until the Northern Pacific Railroad is well advanced westward. I think it would be wise to increase the force of cavalry in Montana as soon as practicable, in order to intimidate these people from committing acts of hostility as far as possible, and give no delay. We wish, before being forced to meet the question with arms, that this very delay may give the Indians wiser views and enable a final settlement to be made without a resort to any more force. In this precautionary measure I would also recommend that additional troops and cavalry be sent as soon as practicable to Fort Budford. If the Interior Department decides to feed these Indians where they are, I should like to be advised, as it might influence action hereafter in certain contingencies. Lieutenant General Sheridan says he has been of the opinion for two years that a difficulty with the Northern Sioux cannot be avoided, and that its taking place is but a matter of time, and as we are not prepared for it, and will not be until spring, concessions to the Indians should be made. The War Department, from lack of men, could not send troops to Buford as suggested by him, but he will send four companies of cavalry and three of infantry there in the spring. Buford is now, and has been for three or four years, in a stage of siege, and the last raid made there on July 23d or 24th, was doubtless by a party of these Indians.

Under date of August 7th, General Sherman submits the preceding communication to the Secretary of War with the following remarks: The army is in no condition to meet the requirements of a war with the Sioux Indians in the inaccessible region about the Milk river agency. Our measures in that quarter are defensive and necessarily very weak." A gentleman connected with the Interior Department, and long familiar with Indian affairs, after reading the foregoing recommendations, remarked to-day that the suggestions of the various officers concerning the Indians reminded him of feeding rats in their fancied security until dogs enough could be found to catch and kill them.

INTERNAL REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

The recent decision of Commissioner Pleasonton relieving bankers from the payment of tax on borrowed capital reached officially only one district, the Thirty-second New York. As soon as Douglass, the present Commissioner, is officially advised by the proper officer of the receipt of the communication, it will be recalled. As the case stands there is no change in the old decision, and tax on borrowd capital will be collected as heretofore. The names of W. O. Avery, chief of the appointment division of Internal Revenue, and General Averill are mentioned in connection with the supply of the vacancy in one of the deputy commionerships caused by the promotion of Douglass.

THE WEATHER.

The barometer has fallen from Missouri northward since Saturday afternoon. It has risen on the gulf coast, but has now again fallen. The high barometer which was over the lake region has moved Eastward, and is now north of New England, except a small isolated area of New Jersey. The temperature has risen this afternoon to an extreme height from Nebraska to Kentucky and Tennessee. It has fallen in New England and Pennsylvania. Rain has fallen since yesterday on the Gulf and South Atlantic coast, and so far as heard from in Minnesota. Clear and hazy weather has prevailed from Lake Michigan to the river and eastward to the Atlantic.

Probabilities—An area of low storms will probably be developed to-night and to-morrow from Tennessee and Arkansas, and northward to the lakes. Renewed rain will probably be experienced on Monday from Texas to Florida and to Virginia. A falling barometer with cloudy weather is probable for the Middle and Eastern States.

THE CROPS.

The next report of the Department of Agriculture will not be published until September. Returns recently received show the crops are in a better condition than was first reported in July, including corn and cotton. A letter from Arkansas says that although the average of cotton is not so large as last year, the crop will be equally as large, and so of the other States.

ON THE RAMPAGE.

Speech of Schurz.

RELIEVES HIMSELF OF BILE.

He Arraigns the President.

WILL GRANT SURVIVE?

CHICAGO, August 12.—Farwell Hall was filled to-night with a large audience, which listened with great interest to Senator Schurz, of Missouri, who had been invited to this city by a large number of the prominent Germans of this city, for the purpose of giving them his views on the great political topics of the day. Mr. Prussing, in introducing the speaker, remarked that if the Germans of this country thought themselves worthy of a representative ideal of a republic, they would be brought much nearer to us. Mr. Schurz spoke in the German language, and in the opening remarks gave the Germans the credit of sympathizing with him in his motives and position, and promised that he would give them his views without any reserve, as was his duty to do. Of those who exercised any control on public opinion, it was claimed a few restless agitators were the cause of the confusion now existing among political parties, and yet no reforms can be successfully carried through without agitation. The present hour presents a new order of things, with new problems, new dangers and new duties, unprovided for in the old programmes of political parties. Our civil war, in sweeping away the doctrine of secession, abolished slavery, and breaking the slave holding power, had established the civil and political rights of all citizens, but had estranged the feelings between the citizens of different sections of the country, and rendered necessary a new system of taxation, reaching every material interest. The government of to-day has grown far beyond what it was once, and its officers, in numbers, assumed the proportions of an army, who exercised a wide-spread influence in political concerns, while the power frequently wielded by money frequently tries and often succeeds in controlling executives, legislatures and courts of justice, and partisan organizations were used to further the individual interests of politicians. The speaker's rule in considering the important questions was to do so outside of all political connections, so as not to be biased by personal or party interest. The interest of the country demands that the questions growing out of the war, embodied in the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution of the United States, should be accepted by all political parties as equal, civil and political rights. It is the only theory consistent with the maintenance of free labor. Prejudices of persons averse to the amendments will have to be overcome by patriotic men, firmly upholding the legitimate results of the war. Our Southern people must be gradually cut loose from the past and painful memories, as well as their peculiar desires and aspirations, their thoughts directed to those interests which we have in common. To this end nothing is more desirable nor necessary than the removal of political disabilities by a general amnesty, and the speaker considered it one of the most serious blunders of the Republican party that this amnesty was not granted long ago, and the arguments combatting the granting of such amnesty were sentimental ones. In a republic where the whole political organization of society is based upon universality of suffrage, political disabilities are antagonistic to Republicanism, and can at best exist only a very limited time. Missouri to-day, by the removal of disfranchisement, enjoys perfect repose and order, and general good feeling. Besides, disfranchisement is used by one party to keep another party down; that is its object, and the result is that the most unscrupulous politicians, being under such circumstances the most useful, soon become very influential. The speaker said if he couldn't maintain the ascendancy of his party by honest means, then he would be willing to let it go through a purifying process, however unpleasant it might be. The miseries and fierce convulsions in Missouri before the removal of political disabilities, and the peace and tranquility of that State since its removal, were portrayed in glowing language, and pointed out as the result of something higher in politics than the possession and distribution of public plunder. There are two elements and difficulties in the South which must be viewed in connection with the amnesty question, the disunion spirit trying to keep down colored people, and the union men producing disorders, known as Ku-Klux outrages, and on the other hand the administration of unscrupulous and rapacious men, called carpet baggers, and those two evils can't be alone removed by penal legislation on the part of Congress. The main relief must come from the people themselves, as it is evident that neither the Democratic nor Republican party, as they are now in most of the Southern States, can afford relief—the Democrats being controlled by the reactionary and violent element of Southern society, and the Republicans being under the lead of unscrupulous and rapacious men. If the good men connected with both parties would unite, they would possess numerical strength enough to bear down all opposition, and moral power enough to maintain order and a good government, and the removal of political disabilities by amnesty would bring about the result. In speaking of the power wielded by the Government, and to avert the evils arising therefrom, two things were essential, the speaker said,—that we conscientiously adhere to the principles of a constitutional government, and that we elevate the standard of morality in political life. The opposition to the Ku-Klux bill in Congress was because the bill invested the Government with powers not warranted by the Constitution—powers more dangerous in effect than the abuses they were to correct. It was appointing a lion to protect sheep against the wolves. The lion would easily keep the wolves away, but what was to protect the sheep from the lion. Our general government has the power to protect the rights and liberties of its citizens, but in doing so it ought not to go beyond certain lines of its authority prescribed in the Constitution. Senators voted against this act, not as if they had been unwilling to protect the lives and rights and liberties of those who need it in the South, but because the manner in which the protection is proposed is involving great damages to the rights and liberties of all, and we refused to grant such powers to the executive, not because the President now in office did not individually possess our confidence, but because we would not entrust to any man, were he ever so great and good, with such powers to rule over the American people. In periods of extreme public peril a temporary grant of such extraordinary powers may be a necessity, as the Romans appointed a dictator when the enemy was at their gates. In such periods the habit of using exceptional powers is easily acquired; but it is time at last that we should understand that the war is over, the habits of war must be dropped, and that a Constitutional Government must once more reign supreme. There is no safety for our free instutions but in this. It has been said that the Ku-Klux bill was brought forward in Congress not merely for the purpose of suppressing disorder and violence, but of enabling the Republican party to maintain or restore his ascendency, and espesially the President to secure for himself the election at some of the Southern States by the machinery of that law. It is possible that some unscrupulous politicians have such object in view, but they, however, wanted and proposed a law much more sweeping than this; but it is my deliberate conviction, based on personal observation, that a majority of those who voted for the bill had no other object than to afford protection to persons in the South who seem to be helplessly exposed to persecution and outrage, and many of them voted for the bill with hesitation and regret. I don't want to justify their vote or excuse anybody, but to be just and honestly convinced than nothing has done more to keep alive the spirit from which the Ku-Klux outrages proceed than the acrimonious war that was waged on the reconstruction measures and the constitutional amendments, and that studious encouragement was given to the hope that all these things would be swept away again if only the Democratic party should come in power. I am furthermore convinced that a large majority of the Republican party in the North and South are in favor of a liberal, generous and strictly constitutional policy, and that the demagogues and schemers among the the leaders of that party would have been utterly impotent had not the lawless schemers of the South and blind reactionists everywhere most industriously furnished capital to work on.

Speaking of the San Domingo case, the speaker said the annexation of San Domingo would inevitably lead to the annexation of the American tropics down to the Isthmus of Darien. This would give us a population of Latin, Indian and Mexican mixture, which has notions in common with us, that would promise no prospect of successful assimilation with our political system. We would gain countries beautiful indeed, but countries whose possession would be a source of incalculable difficulties, military and government corruption and demoralization of every kind. Speaking of the orders given by the President to our naval squadron in the West Indies to protect Baez, the chief of the Republic of San Domingo, if Baez was interfered with, by any one Senator Schurz, said the power would involve the country in war. It is a power of tremendous responsbility. It can't be circumscribed to carefully, nor too conscientiously guarded against abuse. That this power was taken from the Executive and confided to the legislative branch of the government was one of the most important changes in the theories of a constitutional government. It was essentially a republican provision, for which we gratefully remember the fathers of our constitution. I have been severely censured and attacked for for my attitude in this affair. That can't touch me, but when a respectable Repnblican journal summons Mr Sumner and myself to compare our personal differences with the President for the sake of public interest, it deserved an answer. I don't understand this view of public affairs. I know of no personal differences that could influence my political attitude. My personal relations with the President were never other than friendly. I complain of nothing, and were it otherwise, I would certainly lose my self-respect if, on account of personal feeling, I was capable of attacking the policy of the President. But if the President were my dearest and most intimate friend, his friendship would not restrain me from opposing a violation of the Constitution.

I do view the great battles of politics as a comedy wherein we see fit to play at the parting in one act and at reconciliation in the next. To me this is a serious sacred task. I only know right and duty. I should have been but too happy if I could have contributed to the end that this administration should prove a blessing in every direction and I hoped much. I am fully conscious of the responsibility. I should never have spoken of it had I not deemed it my duty and were I not profoundly in earnest. It is my conviction—a conviction conscientiously formed—that this is a violation of the Constitution in its most important point, which the people can't willingly suffer to pass without encouraging undermining of their Constitutional rights, piece by piece, and without dropping into the dangerous habit of submission to arbitrary freaks of personal government. I am not the man to change my convictions like a pair of gloves; but let it be proven to me that I am in the wrong and all differences are composed; but then I shall not cease to battle against sanctioning this precedent through Congress or the people with all the energy of my nature. Others may compromise with their consciences. I can't, and I shall not endorse a violation of the fundamental law by supporting the re-election of a President who perpetrated it. Vituperation and calumny may be heaped on me. I'm conscious of an aim as pure as it is great. I shall be inflexible, and if I stand solitary and alone, I would not cease to sound the signal of danger, deeply convinced as I am that future events justify my warning.

The reversion of the decision of the Supreme Court concerning the legal tender act gave the speaker serious thoughts as to what was to become of the authority of our courts if the practice obtains of packing the highest tribunal of justice. Speaking of civil service reform, as I understand it has two objects: 1st, to give the country more efficient and honest officers, and thus induce a more regular and economical administration, and second, abolish that source of demoralization and corruption which we call government patronage. I believe if we attain the second end, there will no difficulty about the first, the fountain of great abuses; and the worst consists in this, that the public interests are considered and treated as mere spirits of a victorious party to look at the representatives and law givers of the people. They think the patronage is necessary for them to maintain their influence. At home they discredit to the rote office brokers, who stood before the President, not as independent representatives of a sovereign people, but as mere politicians. For the President may grant or withold his favors, and if he desires he may sell those favors as the price of acquiescence in his schemes against their consciences. Not seldom men of worth and self-respect have been deterred from action with participation in political life and yield their places to hungry adventurers, and hence the demoralization and that blunting of the finer feeling of honor which prevades our political life. The people begin to see the danger which springs from our senseless and demoralizing systems, and in pursuance of a law drafted by your brave Senator Trumbull, a commission has been appointed to prepare measures for the abolition of these abuses. Certainly without such commission many of them might have been abolished by the President and well disposed executive, but so far the bread and butter business is in full bloom. Let us rejoice that that is all. The first step has been taken. The Civil Service Commission look at the problem from the correct point of view. It has commenced making war on the fountain of corruption of patronage, and considered whether competitive examinations of candidates for office are practicable in conformity with the constitution. The latter question has been submitted to the Attorney General for his opinion, and if he answers in the negative, then it is not impossible that the Commission will fall back on the plan which I had the honor to propose in my civil service reform bill, with relation to Presidential appointments, that class examinations be instituted, and that from those who are found fit the President may make his selection, but that then the power of removal should be limited to crime, inefficiency or violation of the rules of the service. This, in conjunction with an appropriate extension of official terms, would stop the worst abuses of patronage and generally destroy the whole system. Much would be won for civil service reform by the limitation of the Presidential term to one term. You make a President ineligible for a second term, and the market where consciences are bought and sold will at last be limited to that extent. Washington recognized the high responsibility of his duty, and gave to his subordinates that measure of his own notions of honor by his own example. However much he deserved reward for that which he had done for his country, and nobody ever did or deserved more before him or after. He showed that he looked upon his office as an obliging opportunity to render still greater services, and not as a mere milch cow to feed him and his kin, and he could ask of every government officer under him the same netion of honor and duty.

President Grant has placed his cousins and brothers-in-law by the dozen at the public crib, and the whole chorus of flatterers exclusion: "A trifler who will find fault with him for that." He who feels the indecency of such acts and expresses his feelings, is simply denounced as a traitor whose heart must be full of black designs. O! O! these are no trifles. Cousins and brothers in-law of the President may as officers, be no worse than others, but when he puts them to the public crib, the chief of the State teaches his subordinates by his example, which is everywhere visible in his opinion as a public officer, may be used for a selfish end, make out of it what can be made, and who will wonder when those subordinates also make out of their offices all that can be made, when the chief of the State takes presents, and then puts the donors into high office and dignities. Those men so appointed may be very worthy, and the presents may have had nothing to do with the appointments, but the chief of the State has shown his subordinates that in his opinion an officer may take presents and then grant his favors to the donors in an official way, and will then wonder when the subordinates, following the high example, also take presents and give their official favors to the donors. The New York papers are making much noise over the fact that while the Republican Conventions pass resolutions in favor of civil service reform, the United States Marshal declares to the subordinate officer whom he has just removed—for the removal there were only political reasons, and none arising out of any official shortcoming—that it is surprising that when the chief of the government after having declared himself in his message in favor of civil service reform, continually and persistently removes officers whose official conduct was unimpeachable, merely for the purpose of putting political tools in places. If he, as I have shown you in one instance, carried the trade in consciousness so for, the world laughs at it. "Like master like man," we ought to be surprised at nothing, No, gentlemen, these are not trifles, which show from the highest position, where model should be extended for imitation, that influence proceeds which undermines all fair official feeling of honor. Had Washington, instead of furnishing so fine an example of noble disinterestedness given on his part, their example of corrupt nepotism, he could by this exhibition for all future time have poisoned the character of our public service. That in our days this decends in such streams from the highest place is certainly a misfortune, but it is a greater misfortune to the party spirit that covers such acts, which undermines official honor in the whole Republic, under the mantle of respectability. I know well that censure and abuse will rain down on me for what I have said here, but ask those who blame me, whether what I have said is not true, word for word, and what can they answer? I am for civil service reform in dead earnest.

I am for the elevation of moral tone in our political life from my whole soul, and he who is in earnest must not recoil from pursuing the evil of all its ramifications, whatever it may cost him. It is my conviction that the American people, if they desire to restore purity to our public life, must direct attention to the head as well as to members of the body politic. A blind party spirit demands that we should go with and for the will of the majority, regularly expressed, through thick and thin, and he who refuses to do this is branded by a blind party spirit simply as a traitor. The thieves of Tammany, in New York, are the very ideal of a well disciplined organization in its highest state of perfection, and its fruit are just those which a partizan discipline, so selfish, so perfect, and so reliable, must in the long run necessarily produce. But it is not corruption in the gross form of electing alone that is so cultivated by a blind party spirit. Strict party discipline undermines moral feeling and conscientiousness in a much more subtle way. It commences to disguise or to conceal the truth, and to deal in fiction according to party interest, and it requires not only a love of truth, but requires courage. It requires great boldness to withstand that command, for those who resist are in danger of being burned alive as heritics on the party altar. I will say here for the encouragement of the more timid heretics, of whom there are many, that I have been already burned so frequently on that altar as to know that it does not hurt as soon as one gets accustomed to it. Cast a look at this very moment at the political world. How many Democratic papers are there bold enough to denounce the daring robberies of Tammany Hall as openly and emphatically as they ought to be denounced? To their honor, be it said, there are some, but their number is not large, and how many are there who cover these enormities with stubborn silence, or even defend them? How many Democratic papers are there which admit that there is such a thing as Ku-Klux outrages in the South, and how many Republican papers are there which denounce the carpet bag corruption as it occurs in the South? I have already indicated that the increased power of the Government renders a more careful and conscientious maintenance of the constitutional limitations of its power, and still greater be our caution in view of the colossal accumulation of capital on the hands of great corporations, railroad companies, etc., which consolidate themselves as monopolies continually grow stronger, and which already exercise a formidable and almost incalculable power over our local as well as national interests. Already we are accustomed to phrase that this or that railway company own this or that State, executives, legislature, courts, and all unfortunate appears but too true in many cases. How great the moneyed power of these corporations will be in ten years, how expensive its ownership in governments, legislature and courts of law; whether they will, with absolute power, give us laws or impose taxes on us according to their pleasure, who can tell; but this every thinking man feels, that in the tremendous growth of the financial power of these corporations there is less of a threatening danger for the American people as a cure for party spirit, when allowed to rule regardless of consequences. The speaker said we should deny to this party that blind obedience which it demands; that our individual notions of right of consciousness for duty to act according to independently and consciously formed convictions should be strictly and vigorously preserved, when there is in a party a strong force, men who are determined to know the truth and to speak it, and to follow the party only when it does right and to keep its candidates only when they are good, and to support its measures only when they are pure, and under no other circumstances than that, the party will the more easily escape the danger of becoming corrupt.

Some of the leaders of the Democratic party are in favor of the acceptance by their party of the results of the war and the amendments to the Constitution, and thereby get beyond the old questions, in which endeavor I wish them success. As soon as these old issues are accepted as settled, the country at large will enjoy eternal peace, and it is a source of congratulation that so many and prominent Democrats are endeavoring to abandon the weak and disturbing party of the policy of the "new departure" of the Democrats. It is to be regretted that it does not go far enough, and also we cannot place full confidence in the formation of party politics, but it is feared that the pretended acceptance of the amendment by the Democrats is merely to regain power, and which that is secured some means will be found to set them aside, either through a decision of the Supreme Court or some other manner, for both the language of the leaders and of the Democratic press plainly intimate such a course. A large portion of the Democratic party is not yet sufficiently ripe to accept just equality, and it is possible the present counter efforts may dissolve the party, and should it take place, it would not be the worst thing to happen to the Republic. The separation of the progressive from reactionary elements of that party would be a happy event. Liberal Republicans are not at all slow to letting alone what they do not like in their own party, but there is much more to be disliked in the Democratic party. The new wine of Republicanism can't be put in old Democratic casks. The Republican party is also engaged in placing before itself new issues as prominent party questions, now being solved, the abolition of slavery, the integrity of the Republic and universal equality under the protection of the Constitution. The present issues include the sustaining by all constitutional means the rightful results of the war, as incorporated in the amendments, combined with a liberal policy toward the people of the South. The discussions of the party, if crowded into the background with them, will give place to the issues present. We are for upholding the principles on which the Constitution is founded, and energetic condemation and usurpation of powers. We are for thorough reform in public affairs, and the abolition of Government patronage, and the securing of the elevation of a moral tone to political life by the placing in the higher offices of the republic men who, by their examples and principles, as well as influence, will act ennobling upon political life. We are for granting the fullest freedom compatible with the Constitution, to a system of local self-government. We are for the partial collection of the revenue through a tariff upon imported goods, but only to be applid in carrying on the government, therefore averse to any system which protects and creates a monopoly which benefits individuals more than the public Treasury, and which causes increased cost of living, destroying our shipping interest and destroying our export trade, taking money out of the pockets of the many and putting it into the pockets of a few. We are for the conscientious payment of the national debt, but for a reduction of taxes so far as is compatible with this measure, as we do not admire inordinate haste in paying the indebtedness not due by laying on heavy taxes, entirely endangering and crippling the welfare of the country. We are also for a speedy return to a specie basis, as a foundation of our money system. If these issues sound like the principles of a new party, I say that the new party will arise as soon as it is found that the old parties can't meet the demands of the present times. It is my impression that the Republican party will become a new party, as it already occupies the ground of the present, and it is identified with the new order of things.

In closing his remarks, the speaker dwelled on the services rendered by the German element, both of the old and new world, and exhorted his German fellow-citizens to be so conscientious in the discharge of their political privileges in the future as the past, determining all questions by the standard of right without reference to party dictation, and he assumed as a fixed fact that the republic could always count the German born citizens as among the truest, most lawful and self-sacrificing citizens.

CUMBERLAND.

Death of Mrs. Vallandigham.

CUMBERLAND, MD., August 13.—Mrs. Vallandigham, widow of the late C. L. Vallandigham, died in Cumberland, Md., at 11:30 Saturday morning.

DAYTON, August 13.—A private dispatch received here to-day by John M. Sprigg, Esq., from Cumberland, Maryland, announces the death, that took place at eleven o'clock this morning, of Mrs. Vallandigham, wife of the late C. L. Vallandigham, of this city. Mrs. Vallandigham was stricken down by the sudden death of her husband, and has been suffering severely ever since from both physical and mental prostration. A few weeks since she was taken to Cumberland by her relatives, where she has continued growing worse, and was recently seized with an attack of dysentery which resulted fatally. Her remains will be deposited in a vault at Cumberland, and removed here for interment in the family burying ground as soon as the weather permits. Mrs. V. was a sister of the late Hon. John V. L. McMahon, of Baltimore.

"OH, I have roamed in many lands," as the song says, "and allow me to assure you, my dear sir, that Pier, Dannals & Co.'s cream ale is the choicest beverage to be had under the sun—under the sun, sir."—MR WEGG.

7-30 GOLD LOAN
OF THE
Northern Pacific Railroad.
RAPID PROGRESS OF THE WORK.
The building of the Northern Pacific Railroad (begun July last,) is being pushed forward with great energy from both extremities of the line. Several thousand men are employed in Minnesota and on the Pacific coast. The grade is nearly completed 266 miles westward from Lake Superior trains are running over 130 miles of finished road, and track-laying is rapidly progressing toward the eastern bank of Dakota. Including its purchase of the St. Paul & Pacific Road, the Northern Pacific Company now has 413 miles of completed road, and by September next this will be increased to at least 560.
A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Jay Cooke & Co. are now selling, and unhesitatingly recommend as a profitable and perfectly safe investment, the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. They have 30 years to run, bear Seven and Three-Tenths per cent. gold interest, (more than 8 per cent. currency) and are secured by first and only mortgage on the ENTIRE ROAD AND ITS EQUIPMENTS, and also, as fast as the road is completed, on 23,000 ACRES OF LAND to every mile of track, or 500 acres for each $1,000 bond. They are exempt from U. S. Tax; principal and interest are payable in gold; Denominations: Coupons, $100 to $1,000; Registered, $100 to $10,000.
LANDS FOR BONDS.—Northern Pacific 7-30's are at all times receivable at TEN PER CENT. ABOVE PAR, in exchange for the Company's lands, at their lowest cash price. This renders them practically INTEREST BEARING LAND WARRANTS.
SINKING FUND.—The proceeds of all sales of Lands are required to be devoted to the re-purchase and cancellation of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company. The land grant of the Road exceeds Fifty Million Acres. This immense Sinking Fund will undoubtedly cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due. With their ample security and high rate of interest, there is no investment accessible to the people which is more PROFITABLE OR SAFE.
EXCHANGING U. S. FIVE-TWENTIES.—The success of the New Government 5 per cent. Loan will compel the early surrender of United States 6 per cents. Many holders of Five-Twenties are now exchanging them for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties, thus realizing a handsome profit, and greatly increasing their yearly income.
OTHER SECURITIES.—All marketable Stocks and Bonds will be received at their highest current prices in exchange for Northern Pacific Seven Thirties. EXPRESS CHARGES on Money or Bonds received, and on Seven-Thirties sent in return will be paid by the Financial Agents. Full information, maps, pamphlets, etc., can be obtained on application at any agency, or from the undersigned. For sale by

LOUISVILLE
CEMENT.
The Best--The Cheapest.
The Cement has acquired the reputation as first in the country in hydraulic strength and uniform reliability.
It is now in general use from the lakes to the Gulf, most of the public works in the West and South being constructed with it.
The mills at Louisville having been enlarged and improved, can supply any demand, and though the Cement has always, for 30 years brought higher prices than competing brands, it is from this time the determination of the manufacturers, in order to largely increase the sale and extend the use of their Cement, to furnish it in the principal markets at prices which make it the most available and economical for all classes of work.
The large capacity of this Cement for taking sand renders it much the cheapest that can be used for buildings of any kind.
At the reduced prices in Pittsburgh its cost is not much above common lime, which makes it unquestionably to the interest of owners and builders that the foundation of every good house should be laid in this Cement.
A large stock of fresh Cement has just been received by barges from Louisville, and is offered at greatly reduced prices by the following dealers:
LAING & McKALLIP, 347 Liberty street.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 48¼.

BONDS at Frankfort, 97¾@97⅞c.

GOLD closed in New York Saturday at 112¾.

FROM Spanish sources the report comes that the Cuban Generals Quesada and Fiqueredo have been executed at Santiago De Cuba.

THE editor of the Chronicle is informed that DAVID STANTON, not W. McCandless, is the Republican candidate for Auditor General of this State.

THE $200,000,000, five per cent. loan, which has all been taken, will reduce the annual interest of the government, one per cent. on that amount, or $2,000,000. Now for the four and a half per cent. loan.

DISRAELI complains that Gladstone "juggled" the House of Lords out of its privileges by the use of the Queen's warrant. More of the same kind of jugglery may be expected to overcome amazing stupidity.

GENERAL JOHN M. HARLAN, who has just made such a gallant fight in Kentucky, and who has for the first time, opened the eyes of Kentuckians, is named as a possible candidate for the Vice Presidency.

IT is alike creditable to the head and heart of the Marquis of Ripon, that he should rise in his place in the British House of Lords, and utter kind, complimentary words of our country. This appears to be the effect upon all intelligent Englishmen, who visit our land and study our institutions.

LEXINGTON, the old home of Henry Clay, gave the Republican candidate 650 majority, for the first time, which carried the county (Fayette) by some 245 majority. All hail, Lexington, redeemed! Paris, the home of Garret Davis, went Republican; so did Paducah, Bowling Green, Hopkinsville, Frankfort (the State Capital) Henderson, Shelbyville and Newport. We have got the towns; next year we will convert the country. Put Kentucky down for Gen. Grant in 1872.

THE action of the British House of Lords in rejecting the Ballot bill, is but another exemplification of its stupidity and lack of foresight, as well as its determination to force the Liberals to acts of revolution, before it will move a peg out of the old decayed grooves of the past. The English aristocracy and crown learned a lesson about the year 1776, which they appear to have forgotten. It may become necessary to teach them over again, that the people not the pampered nobility, are the power behind the throne, greater than the throne itself.

AN interesting feature of the great annual horse racing at Buffalo, New York, occurred a day or two ago. Vanderbilt, who is President of the New York Central road, entered his celebrated horse, "Myron Perry," against an equally celebrated trotter named "Hotspur." The latter animal somehow became through its owner, or chief backer, the representative of the rival Erie road, and the contest was therefore at once recognized as the old one of Central vs. Erie. Of course the excitement ran high, and betters grew more and more wild and extravagant in their deposits on their favorite. It is announced that fully $200,000 were risked on the result of this race. Fisk, (Erie) as usual, won, his horse "Hotspur," driven by Budd Doble, taking the three last heats. What a pity that this circumstance might not be taken as a final decision of all the quarrels of these two great rival railroads, so that hereafter they might be run in the interest of the public. A useful and economical lesson might be drawn from this accidental circumstance. Why not let a horse, instead of a bloody battle, or an expensive law suit, decide our disputes?

WHY doesn't the Post inform its readers that the government funding loan has all been taken? Is it afraid that they will chide it for its false representations a little while ago, when it pronounced the loan a failure? Is it annoyed that the credit of the government is so good, that the placing of the five per cent. loan is further proof of the confidence of the financial world in the present administration of our affairs? The Post not only said this loan was a failure, but the reason of its failure was that the people were disgusted with Boutwell's administration of the Treasury Department, and the finances of the country. So, by this same logic, now that the loan is proved not to be a failure, the people are not disgusted either with Boutwell, the administration, or with Republicanism. Come now, good neighbor, be candid, and tell your readers that you were mistaken, that the loan is not a failure, but a great success, that the world has not lost its confidence in our country, but on the contrary has shown the strongest belief in our ability and intention to meet all of our obligations, and freely takes our bonds for all we want to borrow.

THE NEW CITY HALL.

The Post grows desperate in its attempt to create the impression in the public mind that dishonesty has been practiced by the very respectable and worthy gentlemen who as a Commission have charge of the erection of our elegant and substantial new City Hall. It deals altogether in loose generalities, failing to specifically assert in what manner and by whom the alleged frauds were committed. Now such a course is not right; nay, more, it is highly discreditable and dishonest. We believe it to be the duty of every conscientious journalist to expose wrong and the doers of wrong wherever found, and no matter who may be the sufferers. It is quite a different thing, however, to cry out against any public servant or servants without cause and fix to innocent names the suspicion of dishonesty. We do not desire to be forced into the position of defending the City Hall Commissioners for we believe they need no defense and if they did they are able and competent to take care of themselves. We feel that we can safely say that not one among them has wrung from the tax payers a single dollar unlawfully, but all have labored earnestly to perform their duties in such manner as to afford the fullest measure of satisfaction to the people who have entrusted them with the expenditure of their money. If we thought otherwise we would unhesitatingly say so and join the crusade now so blindly carried forward by our Wood street neighbor. Indeed, from a political stand-point, we would be more justifiable than even the Post in exposing any irregularities that might be discovered, as while the Commissioners are Republicans, all the heavy contractors are uncompromising Democrats.

The Post seems to forget the fact or ignores it altogether, that the Commissioners on the last meeting day of the City Councils of each year, present a detailed and itemized report of all expenditures for the closing twelve months, giving the number of each warrant drawn on the City Treasurer, to whom issued, and for what purpose. Such report was made and officially published in these columns on January 3d 1870, which showed the total cash paid out for ground and everything else up to that time to have been $239,872.60. On December 28th, 1871, we published the second official report for the intervening year, the expenditures having been $195,694.54, which included $9,333.66 interest on the two hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds issued, and $9,228.75 interest on the real estate purchase. Since then, up to Saturday last, there has been paid out on the cheques of the Commission, the sum of $97,308 00. Thus we are enabled to present a table of the cash thus far paid out by the Commission:

Real Estate	$100,000 00
Interest on same	9,228 75
Interest on bonds	9,333 66
Interest, temporary loans	454 41
Construction account	423,191 98
	$542,208 80

The Legislature has by special acts empowered the Commissioners, first to expend $300,000 in the construction of the building; a supplement allowed an additional $200,000 to be expended for such purpose. This legislative grant leaves a margin of $76,808.02 yet to be expended on the finishing of the hall. Altogether, when finished and furnished, the new City Hall will stand the city about $650,000 of cost. It is a noble structure, and will last through all ages. The Commissioners' books are open to all authorized agents to call and examine at any moment. Doubtless money has been made by the contractors, but all contracts were awarded to the lowest and best bidders, and the Commissioners were entirely disinterested parties. Now, as the Post has the figures, let it make the most of them, but let it not forget that all the heavy contractors are out-and-out Democrats.

SHALL WE HAVE A PARK?

From all appearances we are led to believe that the question will soon be determined whether Pittsburgh is to have a Park or not. At the last meeting of the city Councils, the Commissioners appointed to make inquiry in regard to an eligible location for, and the establishment of a Public Park reported that there is a tract of ground situated almost in the centre of the city which is admirably adapted for the purpose, an opinion in which all will coincide who will make a personal inspection of it. This tract, consisting of nearly five hundred acres, is situated in the Twenty-second ward between the forks of the Four Mile Run. A large portion of it can never be used as sites for buildings, nor for any other purpose than that of a pleasure ground. On its eastern and western borders it is isolated by deep ravines from the adjacent territory. It is almost in a primeval state, and presents a more varied surface than any other tract of land of the same size that we have anywhere seen. Here and there is a small plateau, then a steep declivity covered with magnificent forest trees, or a deep ravine, wild and almost awe-inspiring in its depth and ruggedness. It abounds with springs which will furnish an ample supply of water for numerous fountains, and the best quarries from which material may be procured for building bridges and making other improvements. Uneven in surface and peculiar in formation, its scenery combines the picturesque and romantic. It is at sufficient distance from the smoke and din of the business and manufacturing portion of the city, and is easy of access both by the Connellsville and Oakland Passenger Railway. The entrance to it is within three minutes walk of the station of the last mentioned thoroughfare.

In grandeur and sublimity, and beauty of natural situation the tract of which we speak far excels the Central Park of New York, the Fairmount of Philadelphia, or the Druid of Baltimore. In a word, it is susceptible of such improvement as will make it the pride of Pittsburgh, and a source of pleasure, health and recreation to her citizens.

We need not speak of the advantage of such a place of resort to a manufacturing and important city like ours, which is destined to become one of the greatest in this broad land, in which the rich and the poor could mingle promiscuously and enjoy recreation and rest from the follies and the toils of life. If established it would lead to the cultivation of taste and refinement, which are greatly needed. Its physical benefits resulting from healthy open air exercise, and the habits of cleanliness which it would induce, would be worth ten fold more than any reasonable cost which it would incur. Pittsburgh "furnishes forty-six per cent. of all the glass, sixty-eight per cent. of all the steel, and thirty-eight per cent. of all the iron manufactured in the United States." It is estimated that there are eight millions six hundred thousand acres of coal in the neighborhood of our city, in the mining of which more than twelve millions of dollars are invested. We mine each year more than one hundred millions of bushels, about one-third of which is consumed in our various works and private residences in and around the city. In 1850, we had only thirteen rolling mills. Now we have no less than thirty-two, in addition to nine steel and two copper mills. These facts are an index to what our city must yet become.

If we are to have a Park, now is the time to decide. Property must appreciate with the growing development of our immense resources, and in proportion as these are developed, our population must increase. The time is not far distant when there will scarcely be room to breathe within the limits of the old wards of the city. The question should be decided at once then, whether we are to have a Park or not. The longer the matter is delayed, the more expensive will it become, and if it is the purpose of the city to establish a place of public, healthful resort, where the hardy sons of toil and their families can enjoy, at a very trifling expense, the pure air of the hills and the refreshing fragance of blooming flowers, and roll to their hearts' content on the verdant lawn, or amuse themselves around playing fountains, leaping cascades and miniature cataracts, now is the time we believe to take the incipient steps. The more our city extends her area of commerce and manufactures, the more will real estate appreciate in value, and it is hardly to be expected that any one of our rich landed proprietors will donate to our municipal corporation a tract of land sufficient in extent to accommodate the thousands that would weekly repair to a public park if it were established.

We have not the slightest intention of dictating to our people what they should do in the premises. The matter is entirely in their own hands. If the majority shall say, "We must have a Park," we will cheerfully bear our share of the burden, although editors of all others will have the least time to enjoy its great benefits. That such a luxury will cost a considerable sum of money even now, none will deny, but of all the outlays made by cities which have established parks none has been less complained of than that which affords the inhabitants a place of healthful and recreative resort. Indeed, we have heard of no complaints coming from any quarter in regard to expenditures made for purposes of this kind. We know that some gentlemen who were violently opposed to the improvement and decoration of the Commons in Allegheny City are so much pleased now with what has been done, that they are petitioning for additional improvements of the same kind within the limits of that corporation. They not only bear willingly the burdens that have already been imposed, but are ready to shoulder additional ones for more extended improvements of a similar kind, having been convinced of their salutary and beneficial character. And so it will be in this case. Many who may oppose the ornamentation of public grounds now, will, before the work has been completed, be the most enthusiastic in favor of its completion.

There may be other eligible locations between the tract we have referred to, and the eastern line of the city, but we think there is none that presents such diversified scenery, or is so well adapted for the purpose in every respect. There is none certainly so easy of access. Nor is there any that could be procured on more reasonable terms. There is not a comfortable or commodious building of any kind on the whole tract, and, if we are correctly informed, the rentage derived from it does not do much more than pay the taxes. We are sure it would not, if the land were assessed at less than the one-half of its imaginary value. And for such a purpose, the proprietor, although a non-resident of this country, would no doubt sell it at a very reasonable price, and thereby encircle his name with a halo of glory, and earn for himself the title of a philanthropist. In this event, we would suggest the park should be called by his name.

The Commissioners, to whom the matter has been entrusted, are among our most worthy and upright citizens. We are well convinced that they have nothing but the public benefit in view. They are in such circumstances as to be free from all selfish motives. Their advice and recommendation are entitled to the highest respect and consideration. If then, we are to have a park, let the matter be decided now. Never again will such a favorable opportunity present itself for securing one at such a moderate cost. Let the City Councils and the people decide for themselves. Their decision should be given at once, so that all agitation of the subject may cease. We will be perfectly satisfied with any conclusion to which they may come, but are fully convinced that a park would be a public benefit, in the establishment of which men of all classes and conditions would abundantly rejoice.

GOSSIP AND SCANDAL.

Verschweigen sein zur aechten Zeit,
Ist besser als Beredsamkeit.

The apostle James, and other inspired writers, powerfully describe the evils and dangers resulting from a loose and unbridled tongue, and the difficulty there is in always keeping the "unruly member" within strictly legitimate bounds.

Not to repeat "unadvisedly with the lips" and to be silent under provocations and unjust censures, is the effect either of long and bitter experience in life, or of a high toned Christian character. If the tongue were always controlled, if bitter, unkind, resentful words could be repressed and only words "fitly spoken" were dropped around, what heart-burnings, jealousies, hatred, wrath, anger, malice, would cease from our midst!

Persons of refinement are very cautious in retailing slanderous reports of individuals, while the companionship of the underbred, who, unaccustomed to the restraints of refined society, gossip about their neighbor's affairs, and retail every bad story they can hunt up, or fabricate, is certainly very irksome and annoying.

However every rule has its exception, and there are instances of persons in the upper walks of life, who delight in low men gossip, while on the other hand, there are instances of those in humble life, who, with but uncultivated minds, yet with instinctive delicacy, shrink from the silly habit of "small talk" and ill-natured gossip about other folks setting an example of "keeping the mouth as with a bridle" and of reticence and prudence in their walk and conversation which merits respect and imitation.

In Miss Muloch's "Mistress and maid" Elizabeth Hand the, new servant, is represented as coming unexpectedly into the sitting room, while the family were discussing private matters, and so deeply engaged in conversation that they did not observe her entrance. "Hush!" said Miss Leaf as Elizabeth, with the bright scarlet covering her cheeks, advanced into the room, her native honesty, getting the upper hand of her first resolution to run away.

"If you please misess," said Elizabeth "I didn't mean to—but I've heard."

"What have you heard—that is how much?"

"Just what Miss Hilary said. Don't be afeared, I shan't tell. I never chatter about the family. Mother told me not."

"You owe a great deal Elizabeth to your good mother—a poor washer woman."

"I am so glad you have come," said a lady to another, who had just moved into the adjoining house. "I didn't like the lady who lived here before you came. Now, I'll clean my yard—take away the old dead trees and brush, and then you can see up street, right into Mrs. Smith's door."

Nothing seems to interest some people, so much as the business and personalities of others. Often their own vineyards are running riot, while with motes in their eyes, they are looking after the vineyards of others.

The direct and keen stroke which Emerson has aimed at the folly of excessive reading, may with equal force be applied to this subject. "How dare I read Washington's campaigns when I have not answered the letters of my own correspondents? Is not that a just objection to much of our reading? It is a pusillanimous desertion of our own work to gaze after our neighbors." It is getting quite common now, in much of the "Washington correspondence," to touch lightly on the important affairs of the nation, while lengthy, tedious details are given of distinguished people. Descriptions of dress, the color of the hair, the shape and size of the nose, the walk and trivial on dits. I remember once hearing Grace Greenwood say in a lecture that when she just began to write for newspapers, with other small gossip she described Henry Clay's coat and collar. Some time afterwards she met the statesman in Washington. Said Henry Clay to Grace Greenwood, "My dear young lady, my collar and coat (touching them with his hand) may be old fashioned, as you see. They are home-spun!" There is always more or less danger that criticisms on dress and manners will closely trench upon rudeness and vulgar freedom.

"But while it is mean and vulgar to talk the worst of others, what can be said of the slanderer?" said a lady to an afflicted friend who suffered from slander. "I intend to watch you." Ah, this is the point!—envy, jealousy; originate lies, and the envious and mean magnify and circulate them around. If the slanderer can find nothing in the present character and circumstances of his victim to attack, he will rake up the buried past, and reproduce, with colorings and additions of his own, all the faults and follies of the years agone. Men of high standing and influence often suffer thus from foul slander and false representation. The accusers, in bringing their victims before sessions, presbyteries, synods and courts, say they wish to promote the public virtue. But the severity and injustice with which they hunt down and pursue their victim only implies that it is but the gratification of mean and jealous feelings. The Psalmist prayed, "Let me fall now into the hand of the Lord, for very great are His mercies; but let me not fall into the hand of man." God blots our sins from His book, and washes them all away in the atoning blood of Christ, when we repent and seek forgiveness—

"To err is human; to forgive, divine."

The good and upright mind wishes to raise an erring mortal to his own level, and treats him with christian courtesy and kindness. He does not cast the first stone. He would not pollute his lips in circulating low, slanderous reports of others. He remembers that the receiver or "partaker is as bad as the thief." When we all reflect what false stories have been told about ourselves, it ought to make us pitiful and charitable towards the injured and slandered. Let us look for the good and noble traits of character in friend or foe. It will be the "reflex act of the soul." Love covereth a multitude of sins. Do ye unto others even as you would have that they should do unto you, is the divine command of Him who never spoke an idle word. How a word warm from the heart enriches us. We surrender at discretion. How death-cold is literary genius before this fire of life. "A man hath joy by the answer of his mouth and a word spoken in due reason, how good is it!" How it reanimates the heavy soul, and gives it strength to meet the trials, cares, sorrows and disappointments incident to human life. Let every child of Jesus daily pray "Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips." JANE.

Kentucky Election.

The Louisville Commercial forcibly and joyously says:

"THE DAY AFTER.

"Whatever may be the result of the election of yesterday, so far as men are concerned, it is indisputable that its effect upon the future of Kentucky will be felt and acknowledged long after the issues are forgotten. The Republican ticket may have been defeated by a large majority. Its opponents may enjoy, with bonfire and torchlight, with parade and glorification, the present and immediate fruits of victory. Yet, after all, the Republican party has gained a great and glorious triumph—one which will be felt when the names of the candidates of yesterday are lost among the host of triumphant or, defeated politicians of the past.

"We have said that in any event the Republicans of Kentucky may congratulate themselves on a moral victory. Why? Throughout the length and breadth of our State the people, whose interest is good government, have heard the issues of the hour freely and openly discussed. Men who have for years been accustomed to learn their political faith from the adherents of the Bourbon Democracy have at last learned that there are two sides to this as to every other story. Men who have for years accepted as unquestioned truths the wildest statements of local politicians, have been astonished to find that the most solemn assertions of partisans may with safety be taken with some grains of allowance.

"The right and the policy of free discussion of all public questions has been asserted and to a great extent admitted in Kentucky in the present canvass. This, we take it, is a victory for Republicanism.

"There are other and, we believe, good reasons why the election of yesterday is to the Republican party a great moral victory. For many years immigration has passed us by. A wall higher and more formidable than the Chinese Wall, has heretofore shut out and turned aside the tide of immigration that ever flows from the East, and Europe toward the West. A most monstrous breach has been made in that wall by the election of yesterday. It invites to our untilled lands the capital and strong hands of all Europe and our Eastern States. It says that the day of brute force and barbaric violence is passed; that Kentucky is open to conviction to all the new and grand ideas of modern civilization; that the day of coercion is past, and the day of discussion, free, open, and untrammeled, commenced.

"The old-time catchwords of the dominant party in Kentucky will henceforth decrease in potency until intelligent men will be ashamed to acknowledge they ever had power in this free Commonwealth. We will hereafter hear less of negro equality and all its related humbugs than heretofore. The vote cast by the colored Kentuckians will be closely scanned, and in the next Democratic State Convention, instead of three colored delegates, we will probably find thirty. Less hesitancy henceforth will be manifested and expressed as to the right, and policy of educating every child in the Commonwealth. The question as to the right of colored men to testify in our courts will soon quietly disappear from our politics. The right of all men to equality before the law will become more and more a pronounced, acknowledged, and admitted right. Is not this a victory? As the smoke of the battle clears away, we are sure our Republican friends will find new and unexpected reasons for rejoicing and gratulation. A few more victories to our Democratic brethren will prove, as has been said, more disastrous than a confessed and signal defeat, for from this day the tactics, the watchwords, the principles of that party change and take their color from the advancing ideas of the time. Perforce, the new departure commences to-day in the ranks of the Old Guard of the Democratic party."

The long night is past; the day is breaking in Kentucky.

"Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching."

THE SUNNY SOUTH.

THERE are seven hundred convicts in the Texas penitentiary.

A WHITE man and a colored woman visited Snow Hill, Md., on Thursday for the purpose of being married. No preacher could be found to perform the ceremony.

Texas papers report that five human skeletons were found hanging from the limb of a tree in Hunt county, recently. Horse thieves are treated with severity down there.

THE Weatherford (Texas) Times says that Ephraim Smith, a citizen of Denton, or Parker county, together with his wife and child, was killed by the Indians a few days ago, and the child roasted and eaten by the red cannibals.

A SOUTH CAROLINA Democratic paper says that four white men shot and instantly killed a hard working, unoffending colored man, named John Perry, in the plantation of trial-justice W. L. W. Riley, in Orangeburg, on Tuesday night. They compelled another negro to conduct them to Perry's house.

ON Monday night of last week, a man named Holden, living at Hopkinsville, Ky., was run over by two or three trains and killed. He is supposed to have been drunk, and to have lain down on the track and was run over and horribly mutilated. A shooting affray occurred at the above place on Tuesday, which created a great deal of excitement. No person hurt.

THE Glasgow (Ky.) Times says: A difficulty occurred at Tomkinsville on Monday between Stephen Simpson and Joseph Roden, in which the latter was shot and instantly killed. We could learn no particulars of the affair save that it was the result of an old grudge. Politics had nothing to do with the killing. Simpson made his escape at the time, and up to last night had not been captured.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal says: An exchange tells us that "the greatest beer-drinker at the Heidelberg University last year was a young man from Kentucky." Kentuckians do nothing by halves. That young man set out to drink beer, and he drinks it, and of course drinks more than anybody else. It would be the same way with him in every other laudable undertaking. If, for instance, he were to make statesmanship instead of lager beer his specialty, a yoke of oxen couldn't hold him away from the White House.

THE room of the Daviess County Circuit Court clerk, at the Court House, at Owensboro, Ky., was entered on Monday night last, and thirty-four indictments, embracing all the Commonwealth cases on the docket for the term commencing Monday next, were taken therefrom. At the last term of the Circuit Court the desk was pried open and a similar robbery made. The Monitor is authorized by Mayor Thompson, the Circuit Court clerk, to state that he will give a reward of five hundred dollars for such information as will lead to the detection of the persons committing the offence, and for the recovery of the documents.

WE take the following from the Bay St. Louis (La.) Gazette: "On Friday last a deplorable affair occurred near the residence of our Sheriff, Mr. D. C. Stanley, a few miles north of the town of Gainesville. It seems that in one of the buildings attached to the place a school-house is kept, where some twenty or thirty children living in the neighborhood are taught. Between two of the boys attending this school, a son of Mr. Morris Blackwell and a son of Chas. Reyer, a dispute and a little fisticuff had taken place, such as will take place among schoolboys anywhere. Young Reyer considered himself aggrieved, and went home to tell his father, who immediately proceeded to the school-house and loitered around until the scholars were dismissed—among them two sons of Morris Blackwell. The younger of the two, the one who had the fisticuff with his son, he attacked with a heavy stick and bruised him fearfully. Then he rushed upon the elder one, a poor helpless cripple, whom he cut across the body with a knife in such a terrible manner that all his intestines protruded. The boy lingered in great agony on Mr. Stanley's gallery for about a day, when death came to his relief. The murderer escaped into the Pearl river, swam, but his neighbors propose hunting for him."

ATTEND TO YOUR FEET----CORNS.

One of the most wonderful preparations which has come into use recently is ROBINSON'S CORN PENCIL, which removes from the feet these troublesome excrescences, and that, too, without any pain. Robinson's Corn Solvent dissolves and disintegrates the corn entirely, leaving the feet as smooth and healthy as if the corn had never been there.

It not only removes corns, but warts and bunions, and indurations of any kind are freely removed. Let any one whose feet are troubled with these pests try it at once, and every particle of indurated matter can be removed from the feet.

They are sold at 50 cents each, or by the dozen, at KEYSER'S, 167 Liberty street. Sent by mail for 60 cents.

FRESH WATERS----MEDICINAL WATERS.

JAMES B. BURNS & CO. have, in addition to all the nicely flavored syrups to furnish their magnificent marble palace fountains, just received invoices of 100 packages of medicinal waters, including the Hathorn and Congress waters of Saratoga, the magnetic waters of St. Louis, Michigan, and the Blue Lick waters of Kentucky, all fresh from their native fountain, and for sale in all quantities at their store, corner of Penn and Sixth streets. The waters here specified are unsurpassed by any in the world for the cure of the diseases to which they are specially adapted, such as intestinal derangements, chronic rheumatism and neuralgia, and affections of the kidney and bladder. Many expensive journeys may be saved by resorting to BURNS' for these health-giving waters.

HELP FOR THE NERVOUS.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram; that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with a gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dyspepsia and biliousness. The hot weather towards the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, it is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy. P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August 12, 1871.

The report that Jay Cooke, McCullough & Co., of London, in connection with other capitalists had agreed to take the balance of the 200 million new 5 per cent. bonds, amounting to about 130 millions, is confirmed, and 20 to 30 millions of dollars will be placed to the credit of the Secretary of the Treasury by August 25, applicable to the redemption of 5-20 bonds. This seems to be a good thing for English capitalists, as money in London is worth only 2 per cent. per annum, and these bonds bear 5 per cent. interest, payable quarterly.

—The amount of grain in store in Chicago on Monday morning last compare with one week and one year preceding, as follows:

NEW YORK, August 12, 1871.

Gold strong and inactive, with borrowing demand; ½ was paid for use until Monday. The clique to-day tried to frighten shorts into covering, but most of the Bears are standing the shave, as they expect to see it go lower when the clique try to unload. It opened at 112¼, sold up to 112⅜ and closed at 112⅜. Clearances about sixty-eight millions. Exports to-day $354,469; for the week $727,500. Governments at close were quiet and firm. Stock market rather dull, many brokers having left the city yesterday to spend Sunday at the springs, &c. Union Pacific, Pacific Mail, New York Central and Scrip and Reading were the strongest stocks. Wabash earnings have increased largely this week. The market closed strong with upward tendency.

The bank statement shows a loss in the reserve of about $2,000,000, a large part of which was caused by the locking up of gold by the clique who are Bulling it. The following are the changes:

Loans, increase	$1,630,136
Specie, decrease	1,002,703
Legal tenders, decrease	1,502,093
Deposits, decrease	1,147,147
Circulation, increase	48,786

Money was easy at 2@3 per cent., though the Bears tried in every way to advance the rate.

The Express says: "We understand that the representatives of Amsterdam capitalists are negotiating to start a bank in Chicago, with a $5,000,000 capital, for the sole purpose of making advances on grain and other western produce." In Southern State bonds ... firm and active, and new South Carolinas have been neglected. active, and the remainder dull and neglected.

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, August 12, 1871.

CATTLE.

The supply was unusually light this week, and, with an average demand, the market was firmer and prices, if anything, ruled a shade higher. As noted in our report of Wednesday, the offerings, as a general thing, were of an inferior grade, and, as a consequence, the supply of good cattle was not equal to the demand, and a larger number of this particular grade could have been sold, and, that too, at better figures than have been prevailing for some weeks past; common and medium cattle were no better than last week, either as regards demand or prices; prime to extra shipping steers, averaging say 1,300 to 1,500 lbs. may be fairly quoted at 5¾@5¾—one bunch of extra brought 5.87½. Texas steers, and there was a very fair supply of this character, sold at from 3½ to 4½.

There has been no cattle on sale during the past two days, and, as already noted, the supply all week has been comparatively light. The eastern markets have been rather better during the past few days, though there, as here, without perceptible improvement in prices.

SHEEP.

The receipts during the week have been comparatively light, and the supply of the better grades was scarcely equal to the demand; sales were made of prime 90 to 95 lb averages, fat and smooth, at 5.20@5.40; and 110 to 115 lbs at 5¼@5½; fair, 75 to 80 lbs, may be quoted at 4¾@4½; common, 65 to 70 lbs, 3¾@4. Scalawags, $1.50@2.50 per head. Lambs, dull and lower, offerings continue light; may be quoted at 4½@5½. Private telegrams to-day report eastern markets dull.

HOGS.

The receipts of Hogs have been comparatively light during the week which has just closed, and the average quality is reported considerably below what it has been for several weeks past; this being the case, prime heavy hogs, such as are usually shipped to Philadelphia, in consequence of a temporary scarcity, have advanced 10@15 cts per cwt, and we now quote at $4.80@5.00—the latter figures only for prime "Chicago tops." On the other hand, light hogs, such as are bought for New York, in consequence of increased offerings of this grade, ruled lower, and we reduce our quotations, 10@15 cts, and quote at $4.50@4.65.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY August 12, 1871.

The oil market still remains in a very unsettled condition with a downward tendency. Sales of 5,000 bbls refined sold in New York to-day, for August delivery, at 23¾c which is one quarter of a cent declined compared with yesterday. In Philadelphia there offers to be a disposition among dealers to hold off for lower prices. The week just closed has been the dullest one in the oil business this year, and from all appearances, not much improvement in the trade may be anticipated during the remainder of the month.

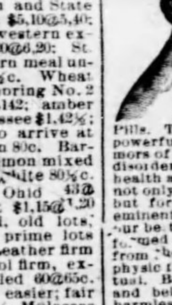
Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic, curing



Costiveness, Jaundice Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar-coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

RIVER NEWS.

The marks last evening indicated two feet ten inches and falling. The weather was excessively hot. The only departure was the Billy Parsons, for Parkersburg, with all the freight she wanted. The last report from the towboats that started was a favorable one.

—As some of our steamboat masters and owners have been awaiting a promulgation of the act of Congress relating to steam vessels, approved February 28, 1871, and having obtained the following information from J. S. Devenny, Esq., Supervising Inspector for the Seventh District, they are hereby informed that two copies of the act will be furnished to each steamer as soon as possible, and are now being prepared by the Treasury Department. The 71st Section of the act repeals all former acts, and the new law has virtually been in force since the date of its approval, notwithstanding many of our steamboatmen and others interested have erroneously supposed that it would not take effect for some time to come, and also that they would be notified of the fact. Some of the appliances named in the law will not be placed on steamers until after the meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, which will convene at Washington in January, 1872, for the reason that the merits of such appliances will then be determined. There is also a portion of the act which does not take effect until twelve months after its passage, and relates to iron and steel plates for boilers; stamping and subjecting the same to a tensile strain; the manufacturing of boilers; determining the working, steam pressure, &c. With these exceptions the law has been in force as above stated. We would also urge the immediate attention of those interested to the requirements of the Fourth Section of the act, a portion of which we quote, as follows: "And be it further enacted, that no loose hay, loose cotton, or loose hemp, camphene, nitro-glycerine, naphtha, benzine, benzole, coal-oil, crude or refined petroleum, or other like explosive, burning fluids or like dangerous articles shall be carried as freight or used as stores on any steamer carrying passengers; nor shall baled cotton or hemp be carried on such steamers unless the bales are compactly pressed and thoroughly covered with bagging or similar fabric, and secured with good rope or iron bands; and every bale of cotton or hemp that shall be shipped or carried on any passenger steamer without conforming to the provisions of this section, shall be liable to a penalty of five dollars; which bales shall be liable to seizure and sale to secure the payment of such penalty." * *

Our marine friends will see the importance of a strict observance of the requirements, as there is a heavy penalty for violations other than the unlawful carriage of baled cotton or hemp, and such steamers as may be using coal or oil other dangerous burning fluids, would act wisely to at once give the matter their attention.—Cin. Commercial.

—The City of St. Paul is the only sidewheel boat that has been withdrawn from the trade above Dubuque, and the Minnesota, Rock Island and Milwaukee make their regular trips. The Red Wing, Minneapolis, Alex. Mitchell, Belle of La Crosse, Phil. Sheridan, Davenport, Muscatine and Dubuque from a daily line from Montrose to St. Paul, connecting with the railroad at Prescott. The Lake Superior, S. S. Merrill and Northwestern form the line from St. Louis to Keokuk.

—At the underwriter's sale of the iron from the wreck of the Ida Reese, at St. Louis, on Saturday, McCabe bought her cylinders for $85 each, doctor for $125, and shaft for $175. Manion, the village blacksmith, bought all the anchors, chains, anvils, &c.

—William Pittman, the popular Vicksburg and coast pilot, has for some months past been sojourning in Virginia. His health is very feeble, and it is hardly probable that he will ever be fit for active river service again.

—Bledsoe & Bemer, of Florence, Indiana, and other parties from along the Ohio river, above and below the falls, are purchasing flatboats preparatory for the lower coast produce trade this fall.

—A collision occurred between the steamboat Bayard, of the Louisiana & St. Louis packet line, and the ferryboat Wiggins, near the bridge piers at St. Louis, Tuesday.

—Charles and Elliott Miller, for several years past clerks on the steamer Indiana, have given up their positions, and have gone to their homes for the present.

—Mr. Hoaglan has resigned the clerkship of the Illinois, and took charge of the office of the City of Pekin. Henry Merideth has taken Mr. Hoaglan's place.

—Capt. Mart Fisher and pilots Gosney and Nick Whitten, left Cincinnati for Antiquity on Friday to bring the Warner to Pittsburgh.

—Doctor Watterson, river editor of the Louisville Courier, has gone to Grayson Springs in search of health.

—Captain James Gormley, of St. Louis, was before the New York inspectors relative to the Westfield explosion.

—The Baltic was to have left Cincinnati for this port on Friday.

Larceny Extraordinary. — Alderman McMasters has issued a warrant for the arrest of James Stoffet, who is charged by Easton & Co. with the larceny of so extraordinary an article as a coal boat. The value of the boat or flat is about $100, and it contained 1,200 bushels of slack, worth three cents per bushel. Stoffett, it is alleged, floated the boat down the river and sold it.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Siebert & Berg, dealers in leather, hides, oil and general shoe findings, No. 466 Penn avenue. This firm have on hand a large and varied stock of goods peculiar to their line, which they offer the trade at exceedingly reasonable prices. They are fair-dealing and honest business men, and we bespeak for them a full share of public patronage. Those who have anything to purchase in their way will consult their own interests by favoring them with a call.

Unintentional Murder.—At Penn Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad on Saturday, a man whose name we did not learn was killed under the following circumstances. It appears that Skinner & Foreman's variety troupe had their tent pitched in that town and were giving performances. A female juggler announced on the bills, through a sudden spell of sickness did not perform. Her non-appearance caused much disappointment and some seven or eight roughs threatened to "clean out the show." While the canvass was being hauled down preparatory to moving the tent elsewhere, some miscreant cut a guy rope and the center pole fell, striking the head of a workman and killing him instantly.

Lamp Explosion.

Last night about half-past nine o'clock a lamp explosion occurred at the house of Edmond McDermott, corner of Penn and First street, which fortunately did no further damage than the slight burning of the floor. The lamp, it appears, was on a table in a room in the second story, and a dog ran against the table and overturned it, causing the lamp to fall to the floor, thus causing the explosion.

Homestead.

A gentleman who is a close observer accounts for the present unusual activity among the sellers of suburban lots, from the fact that the first great sale at Homestead is announced for Saturday, September 9th: after which it is thought that 20 feet lots on "top of the hill," "up the hollows," or "standing on end," will be rather at a discount. Sharp dealers "see it a-coming" and are naturally anxious to sell out before the people get a taste of 60 feet fronts, and a cottage for ten yearly payments.

A Train Destroyed by Fire.

Early Saturday morning, a mixed train of freight and oil cars, on the Pennsylvania R. R., was accidently ignited by a brakeman's torch, near New Florence station, between fifty and sixty miles east of Pittsburgh. In an instant the oil cars, some five or six in number, together with some of the freight cars, were in flames, and despite every exertion that could be made, ten cars with their contents were consumed. In the way of slight scratches and singes, some five men suffered, the engineer being considerably burned about the face and body.

Runaway at a Funeral.

About half past three o'clock yesterday afternoon, while a funeral procession was passing along Fifth avenue, near Logan street, one of the horses attached to a carriage became fractious in consequence of the lines getting under his tail. A runaway was the result, the team dashing along the avenue at a fearful rate. After running about a square the horses veered to one side of the street, bringing the vehicle in such violent contact with a telegraph pole as to nearly demolish it. The driver, Timothy McCarthy, was thrown to the ground and badly injured. There were four ladies in the carriage, all of whom escaped injuries.

Market Thief Caught.

John Cutler, a youth of nineteen, was detected Saturday night about ten o'clock in the act of tapping a till at a butcher's stall in the Allegheny Market. He was arrested and taken to the Mayor's office, where he was recognized as the thief who last Friday morning stole a satchel containing $27, belonging to Mrs. Partridge. This theft was also committed in the Market-house, which is evidence that John was devoting his time and attention to that particular locality. He was recognized by a colored man who saw him take the satchel and run away with it. The owner will make an information against Cutler to-day.

Amusements.

Varieties.—Be it understood that to-night this ever-popular place of amusement will be reopened, under the clever management of the favorite Fred Aims. Manager Aims has been most active during the past few weeks in refitting the handsome little theatre, and has arranged everything in a manner that will greatly enhance the comfort and enjoyment of his patrons, who will, we doubt not, greet him this opening night with a full house. The company which Mr. Aims has secured has among its numbers an unusually bright galaxy of popular actors and old-time favorites. We bespeak for the genial manager a plethoric pocket at the season's conclusion.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and Their European Steam Ship Line.

Our friend and neighbor, Mr. Max Shamberg, has returned from his visit to Baltimore. He has inspected several of the new steamers, and says that the arrangements he found for European travel and emigration, exceed his sanguine expections by far.

Mr. S. is the agent for this and many other steamship lines, issues tickets to and from all European ports, sells railroad tickets to all points, and is in charge of the uptown ticket office of the P. W. and B. Railroad Co.

Travelers and tourists should call at his office, 163 Smithfield street, before they start. Collections in Europe directly and promptly made.

Man Cut in the Lock-up.

Yesterday morning two men named Michael Murphy and Wm. McFadden, who were confined together in a cell at the Central Station House, got into a fight, and before they could be separated Murphy received a severe gash in the throat. The other man was searched but no knife could be found, but the search being continued through the cell, a pen knife was discovered under the bench. It was closed when found, and when opened not a sign of blood could be seen on the blade. The belief is, that the person who did the cutting removed the blood from the knife and endeavored to conceal the weapon. Dr. Arthurs was called in and the wound was dressed. The injury is not a dangerous one.

Death of a German Journalist.

We learn with regret of the death of Frederick Herold, late of this city, which occurred last Friday in St. Louis. Mr. Herold was formerly writing editor of the Freiheits Freund and editor of a German illustrated weekly call Puck. Last fall he severed his connection with the German press of this city and took the position of editor of Anzeiger Des Westens, a German Democratic daily in St. Louis. Mr. Herold stood in the front rank of German journalists, and his death will be deeply lamented by a host of people, whose warm friendship and admiration he had won by his goodness of heart and brilliant attainments.

Noonday Prayer Meeting.

This daily meeting is kept up with unabating interest throughout the summer. The business men who attend it pronounce it a blessing to them, and the doubts and fears of those weak in the faith are often overcome in this half hour's meeting with the Master. All who can possibly spare the time are cordially invited. We must spare time to die, why not spend more of it in getting ready for the judgment? The leaders for this week are as follows: Monday, Rev. E. K. Squier, D. D.; Tuesday, Rev. J. Dermitt; Wednesday, Robert Carr; Thursday, Oliver McClintock; Friday, C. L. Rose; Saturday, A. W. Bell. Requests for prayer should be sent to the Y. M. C. A. Rooms, where the meetings are held from 12 to 12:30.

"Brook Tunnel" Completed.

Those who have travelled over the Pittsburgh, Washington and Baltimore Railroad, Connellsville route—that's its new name—will be interested in knowing that Brook Tunnel has been cut through; cars in all probability will be running through the tunnel by September 1st. This is the point a few miles beyond Confluence at which the temporary track has been laid, over which the trains now run, going up a grade of about 185 feet in a mile, to the summit. By the tunnel way, however, this grade will be reduced to 52 feet to the mile—the track running under the ridge.

It is proposed, we understand, to allow the track over the mountain to remain, as a sort of curiosity for excursionists and pleasure seekers. The view from the summit is one of the grandest on the road, and is one of the sights, which to the pleasure seeker, and lover of the sublime in nature, makes the Connellsville route so attractive.

Another Delinquent.

A Market street clothier, named St. Clair, recently started a branch of his establishment in Birmingham, placing it in charge of one of his salesmen, William Dunkard, stocking it with some $1,500 worth of goods. Dunkard was to receive as compensation for his services $16 per week of a salary. Everything appeared to start off well, but as the store has been in operation some time and no returns have been made, Mr. St. Clair's suspicions have been aroused. A few days ago he called at the store and was surprised to find it unoccupied and his salesman in another locality. An explanation with him failed to develop anything satisfactory, and now he alleges that Dunkard moved the effects to another room, and has been and is selling them on his own account, without reference to the original owner. St. Clair therefore called upon Alderman McMasters to whom he related his grievances. The Alderman issued a warrant for the accused's arrest.

Norma.

This word signifies a Rule or Straightedge for direction or correction, or in other words, the most direct method of reaching any end or object, and is fully verified in the methods of teaching as practiced by Prof. Curry in his Normal Institute. The instruction in this institution has become a synonym for thoroughness, practicalness and efficiency. The great want of our schools, viz: intelligent, well-trained, systematic, professional teachers, is being supplied by this Institute. The extent, excellence and system of instruction make it a most desirable training-school for those contemplating the profession of teaching, as methods of teaching, school government, and in short all the modus operandi of the school room are here presented by a master-hand. We know it to be a fact that County Superintendents, in their examination of applicants for certificates, are able to point out the particular persons who have been pupils of Prof. Curry, by the readiness, thoroughness and system with which they answer the questions propounded to them on examination. And we can safely say that any one with ordinary acquirements, by an attendance of three or six months upon the methods of instruction afforded by this Institute, will be able to perform the duties of a teacher in an eminently satisfactory manner and without fear of failure. The next term opens on Monday, Sept. 1st. For particulars see card on first page.

LOVERIDGE SHOOTING AFFAIR.

Hearing Before the Mayor—The Wounded Man's Testimony—Messrs. Coyle and Loveridge on Special Providence—The Prisoner Remanded for Trial.

The hearing in the case of M. K. Henry, charged with felonious assault and battery, on oath of S. M. Loveridge, took place Saturday afternoon at the Mayor's office. A few minutes before two o'clock—the hour fixed for the examination—a carriage arrived in front of the office on Fourth avenue, in which were seated Mr. Loveridge and his family, the latter consisting of the wife, daughter, and son-in-law of the prosecutor. Mr. Loveridge, apparently still weak from the effects of his wound, was assisted from the carriage, and leaning on the arm of a gentleman he walked to the Mayor's private room, followed by the members of his family already mentioned, Dr. Rodgers, one of the attending physicians, and other friends.

In a few minutes the prisoner was brought down from the jail by officer Ruch, and entered the room wearing a sad and dejected appearance.

District Attorney Pearson appeared for the Commonwealth, and John Coyle, Esq., for the prisoner.

THE TESTIMONY OF MR. LOVERIDGE.

In obedience to the direction of the Mayor, the clerk, Mr. Patterson, read the information to the prisoner, when General Pearson proceeded to examine Mr. Loveridge as to the facts connected with the shooting. There is very little in his testimony that differs from from the accounts which have already been published. Mr. Loveridge stated that on the morning of July 19th he was in his office at the corner of Fourth avenue and Wood streets; Mr. Rebick and Mr. Reed were also there; at about half past eleven o'clock the prisoner came in; Messrs. Reed and Rebick went out shortly after; told Henry to take a seat, and asked where he came from; he replied that he had come from Michigan; then went to the copying press, and while engaged there, Henry walked over to witness and handed him a book containing the certificate of a Royal Arch Mason; did not stop to look at the book particularly, but know what it contained; witness had no idea at this time that the man meant to do him harm; Henry said to witness that he wanted him to compromise the difficulty that existed between them concerning a law suit in Michigan; witness replied that the Courts had settled the case, and there was nothing to compromise. Henry then walked past witness, and as he did so he said. "So, you won't compromise anything?" Witness said, "No," and immediately after he heard the report of a pistol. He at once seized Henry, and endeavored to take the pistol from him; in the struggle they got out into the hall, where Henry fell; at this time Mr. Rebick came and caught the prisoner's right hand, in which he still held the pistol; he was endeavoring to raise the hammer as if for the purpose of firing another shot. Told Mr. Rebick to throttle him; Mr. R. then took Henry by the throat, and witness took his pistol. At this time Henry said, "Let me up; I am suffocating." Mr. Rebick held him down until assistance came.

Gen. Pearson—State whether you had any previous difficulty with the prisoner.

Witness—We had a lawsuit about two years ago.

Gen. Pearson—Did the prisoner make any threats at that time.

Witness—Yes, sir; he said he would follow me to the grave.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Mr. Coyle—Was not Henry alluding to the lawsuit when he made the remark "this will follow you to the grave?" A—He may have had reference to the lawsuit.

Q—Did he not say, speaking of the wrong done him by the suit, "Loveridge, this will follow you to the grave?" A—Don't know that he did: his words were, "I will follow you to the grave."

Q—When Henry came into your office did you not order a man to put him out? A—I did not; there was no quarrel; he did not speak angrily to me nor I to him.

Q—Was not the shot fired when you had Henry down in the hall? A—When he fired he was in my office. Out in the hall he was holding the pistol in his right hand, with his thumb on the hammer. [Here Mr. Loveridge took up the revolver from the Mayor's desk and showed how it was held—the hand grasping not only the butt of the weapon but a portion of the barrel.]

Mr. Coyle—That is a queer way for a man to hold a pistol; he would not be able to fire it holding it that way.

Mr. Loveridge—When God Almighty takes hold of a man he can do nothing. God controlled this man's hand and the bullet that was discharged from the weapon, and thus saved my life.

Mr. Coyle (meditatively)—There is a Providence in all things.

Mr. Loveridge (earnestly)—There is no mistake about that, sir.

Mr. Rebick was next called, and gave a statement in detail as to the part he took in the affair, after which he was cross-examined by Mr. Coyle as follows:

Q.—Did you hear Mr. Loveridge say, after he got possession of the pistol, "shall I shoot him?" A.—Mr. Loveridge asked me if he should shoot the prisoner, and I said "No."

Dr. Rogers was examined as to the extent of the wound and the condition of the wounded man. He exhibited a bullet which he said was passed by Mr. Loveridge from his bowels.

Officer Long was called, and testified that he arrested the prisoner. A revolver was produced, which the witness said was placed in his hands at the scene of the shooting.

MR. COYLE ASKS FOR LIGHT BAIL.

The testimony having closed, Mr. Coyle made a brief speech, asking that the bail might be fixed as small as possible. He said the testimony showed probable cause, but as the case was simply one of felonious assault and battery, bail should not be required in an amount so large as if the wound was more serious or the condition of the wounded man precarious. Bail that might appear small to others would be large to the prisoner.

Gen. Pearson said that the bail should be large enough to insure the presence of the prisoner at court, and if it were fixed at a sum beyond his power to procure, so much the better for the community at large, and the prosecutor in particular. This man should not be permitted to go at large; he might visit the house of Mr. Loveridge, or lie in wait for him, and murder him yet. Besides, Mr. Loveridge was not out of danger, and might die of the wound inflicted by the prisoner.

After some further argument on the question of bail the Mayor said he would require bail in six thousand dollars for the appearance of the prisoner at court. In default, Henry was remanded to jail.

THE COURTS.

Saturday's Proceedings.

COMMON PLEAS—JUDGE STERRETT.

An application for a charter was made by the officers of the Fifth Avenue Building and Loan Association, and the preliminary rule was granted.

Christian Beilstein applied for a divorce from Caroline Beilstein. They were married August 11th, 1867, and after two years of the matrimonial venture, during which Christian alleges his life was made miserable by abuse, the partnership was dissolved by Caroline, who ejected him from the house and threw his raiment after him. Since then, he further alleges, she has been guilty of adultery. The usual subpoena was awarded.

The Directors of the South Pittsburgh School District presented a petition asking for the appointment of viewers to assess damages to be caused by the taking of certain propery belonging to A. Wilcox and others in that borough for school purposes. In accordance with the prayer of petitioners, Messrs. James Wilson, J. T. Craig and Aaron Floyd were appointed viewers to meet on the grounds September 2, ta 9 o'clock, and proceed with their duties.

Upon the petition of James Weir a rule was granted to show cause why an attachment for contempt should not be issued against Arthur Kirk. Kirk, it will be rembered, has a powder magazine near Sharpsburg, but by an injunction, was supposed to be prevented from using it. It is alleged, however, that he has disregarded this injunction. The rule asked for was granted, returnable on the nineteenth.

The remainder of the session was taken up with routine business.

DISTRICT COURT—JUDGE KIRKPATRICK.

This Court was in session a short time. The only item of business of interest was the appointment of Messrs. R. C. Loomis, A. D. Wood, Robert Clugston, John Irwin, George Findley and George Black as viewers to assess damages occurring from the construction of a lateral coal road over certain properties in Baldwin township, by Mr. T. W. Briggs.

BURGLARY ON PENN STREET.

Boarding House Entered—Money and Clothing Stolen.

At sometime during yesterday morning, between the hours of one and four, burglars entered the boarding house of Mrs. Kinney, No. 15 Penn street, and made on extensive haul of money and clothing belonging to a number of the boarders. The following named persons suffered to the extent stated. John Hamill mourns the disappearance of his best pants and vest; John Shaugnessy suffered to the extent of a fine pair of pants, a genuine gold ring and seven dollars in national currency; Patrick Nevin is distressed about a coat and five dollars cash, which he thinks he will never see again; Michael Morgan had six dollars laid away for a rainy day, and that is missing.

The house was entered through a back door, which had not been securely fastened. About three weeks ago a robbery was perpetrated at this house, probably by the same thieves, who are evidently familiar with the premises.

Just here is a good place to remind honest people that thieves are becoming more numerous and are growing bolder every day, and that our citizens being at the mercy of these midnight depredators, would do well to take every precaution to guard against their operations by looking after the security of the door and window fastenings of their houses. These night prowlers are constantly on the look-out for opportunities to ply their nefarious calling, and they are not slow to find and "spot" dwellings and business houses where the slightest degree of carelessness is shown in closing doors and other means of access for the night.

HUMANITARIAN.

An Itenerant Pedlar Comes to Grief.

District Attorney Swoope, on Saturday, started off on a new legal tack, which, viewed in certain aspects, presents decidedly humane features. The victim was one of those itinerant travelers, who for the past several weeks have monopolized the space in front of the Custom House of evenings, and with volubility victimized such as were verdant enough to invest. The vendor in question rejoices in the title of Dr. David De Hamel, and the article which he is industriously "pushing" is a compound tooth paste. Dr. David is a gentleman on the shady side of fifty, and, beside his other accomplishments, seems to be gifted with a fluent profanity, which is the chief characteristic of his addresses. Beside himself, two sons are engaged in the business, and between them the trade apparently flourishes.

A few evenings since an U. S. detective made one of his crowd of listeners, and was not long in discovering that the little packages were unstamped. He only waited for a suitable opportunity to make an information, and thus Saturday Dr. De Hamel was brought before Commissioner Gamble. He at first plead surprise and ignorance, but finding this of no avail, finally concluded with profanity mingled with tears. He was held in the sum of $1,000 for trial. It is proposed by the authorities to push their investigations into this new field; if they but succeed in checking this "street corner oratory" they will be entitled to the everlasting gratitude in these parts.

Great rivalry will doubtless be developed over the approaching sale of those eligible building lots about to be sold off the Allegheny Poor Farm, by Auctioner Leggate, by order of the Councils of that city. The lots are located at Millvale.

Saturday afternoon, a young man named James Harvey, met with a very serious accident. Young Harvey was driving a mule, attached to a train of five or six cars near Bailey's iron works, in South Pittsburgh, when a railing giving way, the unfortunate youth, with one or two of the cars, was precipitated over an embankment, a distance of about thirty feet. Harvey had one of his wrists broken, and received other injuries of a serious character. Dr. Wisbort dressed his wounds.

Why is it that people will not learn to take decent care of the bodies of those who meet with sudden deaths by accident or otherwise? The bodies of the two unfortunate young men who were drowned last evening were left bare and naked on the wharf awaiting the order of the Coroner for their removal. Is is a great and popular mistake of the people to imagine that it is unlawful to remove such bodies until a jury has been sworn to hold an inquest. Ordinary sense and decency would suggest the error of the notion.

The venerable Dr. Jackson, heaven bless his old gray head, goes out every night to inspect the police force, in view of making judicious appointments when elected to the office of Mayor. He has resolved to continue Capt. Reed in his place as he is "always thar" when wanted. The doctor has things down to a fine point. He counts on "2,329 votes suah." He denies that he used to play off as a Mexican, when it was not just the thing to be a man of African blood. His strong point is his military record, for he says he has captured, and killed more rebels, and cooked more dinners for Union soldiers than any other candidate in the field. His chances for the office are about as good as those of some of the other candiates.

Our enterprising fellow-citizens, Messrs. Pier, Dannals & Co., the well known brewers, are attaining national reputation from their novel style of advertising. They are the pioneers in what newspaper men style the "give and take series"—they give a joke and take the benefit of the laugh. The American Newspaper Reporter, an encyclopedia of all that is going on in the advertising world, could not refrain from making the following remarks. It says:

Pier, Dannals & Co., of Pittsburgh, are becoming incorrigible; there is too much method in their madness, and we will have to give them up. Here is their last:

"Alexander the Great, when a young man, once bet five dollars that after drinking a quart of Pier, Dannals & Co.'s cream ale he could ride any horse in the country, and he won the bet.

Are you going to buy a Lot?—Here is some good advice. Don't be in a hurry. You can get lots on the "top of the hill," "up the hollow," or "standing on end" just as cheap after the ninth of September as before it, and on that day there will be a free excursion to "Homestead" when you will have a chance to get a 60 feet front on the level for ten yearly payments. Don't be in a hurry when you have plenty of time.

SAD CASE OF DROWNING.

Two Unknown Men Find a Watery Grave.

A case of accidental drowning, the circumstances of which are somewhat mysterious in their character and as sad, perhaps, as any that we have been called upon to record, occurred last night in the Allegheny river. The circumstances, as we have learned them, are as follows: Two men were seen by a lady, living at the corner of Isabella and Anderson streets, to go down to the river bank, at the north end of the Hand street bridge, shortly before eleven o'clock. They had been there but a few minutes when she heard a piercing cry for help and, looking out at the window, saw the two men, in each other's arms, struggling in the water between the first and second piers of the bridge. A moment afterwards they sunk to the bottom and did not rise again. The lady immediately gave the alarm, and a number of men put out in skiffs, divers were sent down, and the river was dragged for the bodies, which were recovered in the course of an hour.

The men appeared from their features to have been Germans. There was nothing found to give any clue to their names, whatever. Their clothes, which they had left upon the shore, were examined and found to contain a German prayer-book, a song-book, a watch and a little money, but no papers or anything that would lead to their identity. It is supposed they went into the river to bathe and got beyond their depth, or, as is most probable, one of them got beyond his depth and the other went to his assistance, which proved in vain, and both sunk to rise no more.

The bodies upon being recovered, were placed upon the shore, where probably they will remain until the Coroner holds an inquest upon them, which will take place this morning.

ANOTHER REVENUE SEIZURE.

A Brownsville Liquor Dealer Arrested—A Case Involving Over $200,000 Worth of Property.

Considerable excitement was created among liquor dealers on Saturday by the arrest of one of the most prominent dealers in this section of the State, Mr. Samuel Thomson, of Brownsville, at the head of the Monongahela. The gentleman was arrested by the United States authorities upon three serious charges which if not refuted will lead him into considerable trouble.

The allegations against him are changing liquors in packages without reguaging, failing to keep the books requited, and making false entrees and lastly, doing business in the Twenty-second district without payment of special tax.

Thompson has three establishments at Brownsville,—a distillery, wholesale liquor store, and rectifying establishment. Some time ago, it is alleged he purchased some whisky from a bonded warehouse in this city, supposed to be two years old, stamped and guaged. This liquor he is charged with tampering with, either emptying into other barrels or filling the old ones up with other whisky which changed the character of the original fluid. The other two charges are more explicit, and either, if proven would be sufficient to cause trouble. If the charges are sustained they involve the confiscation of the accused property in the business, valued with the two thousand five hundred barrels of whisky, which he has on hand, at over $200,000.

The information was made some time ago and yesterday Mr. Thompson appeared before U. S. Commissioner Gamble, when he promptly waived a hearing and gave bail in the sum of $10,800 for trial. His side of the story will then appear.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminalities.

Before Alderman Strain, Margaret A. Hill, charged Annie Hill with disorderly conduct. Warrant issued.

The same Alderman issued a warrant for John Sill on a charge of larceny as bailee of a carpet sack containing a wardrobe, the whole valued at $15. John Jenkison is the prosecutor.

Alderman Strain also took the information of Lizzie Davis, charging Amanda Webster with assault and battery. The parties are both colored. Arrested and gave bail for Court in the sum of $300.

A charge of malicious mischief was preferred before Alderman McMasters, by L. O Taffell of Turtle-Creek, against John and George Fulmer, William and James Gallagher, Peter and William Moore. It is alleged that they injured trees and shrubbery. A warrant was issued.

Henry Shoemaker was before Mayor Callow on a charge of disorderly conduct, and was consigned to the work-house for a period of ninety days.

Mr. and Mrs. Devine, of Allegheny, having been drunk and having indulged in a skirmish of war, were sent by Mayor Callow to Claremont—the former for sixty, and the latter thirty days.

John Showers was arrested and held for a hearing on a warrant issued by Alderman Bowden of Allegheny. John is charged by Messrs. Dickson & Kauffman with malicious mischief.

Edmund Weir lodged informations before Alderman Strain charging Nicholas Howlas with keeping a ferocious dog, and his daughter Kate with surety of the peace. It is alleged that the dog attacked and bit the prosecutor's child, and also killed a number of chickens for him. He visited the dog's kennel with an axe, bent on revenge, when Miss Howlas stepped between man and dog, preventing the death of the latter, and also indulging in a perfect tirade of abuse on the prosecutor, backed up by the use of a broomstick. Warrants were issued.

The Ladies' Companion.

There is perhaps no machine ever invented that deserves the name of the Ladies' Companion as well as the sewing machine, and we feel perfectly safe in saying that there is none so highly prized as it amongst the fair sex. But the sewing machine, like all other good things, has become so plentiful and under so many names, that it puzzles the fair ones to know what one to choose, as all are recommended as the best, and we propose, therefore, to help you to choose in this serious matter, and would ask you to call at No. 14 Sixth (late St. Clair) street, and examine the Wilson Shuttle. This machine is simple in its construction, is not easily put out of order, will do all kinds of sewing, and is fully warranted for five years, and will be sold, if desired, on the lease plan of monthly payments, and the price is only forty-five dollars—just twenty dollars cheaper than the other machines, and just as good as any of them. Be sure and call and see the Wilson before you purchase elsewhere. Remember the place, No. 14 Sixth street.

COLORADO.

Double Murder.

Denver, August 12.—A double murder was committed last evening, thirteen miles up the Platte from Denver. Geo. M. Bonacina and Mrs. Newton, his sister, were shot by a German farm hand by the name of Theodore Meyer. Bonacina is dead and Mrs. Newton is not expected to live. Meyer is still at large, and a large reward is offered for his arrest. Mrs Newton thinks that Meyer was hired to murder them. It appears that she was married last summer to one Freedenhal, who owned the property, but after the marriage deeded it to her. A quarrel occurring soon after, Freedenhal left, and Mrs. Newton and her brother have since lived upon the place. Suspicion naturally points to Freedenhal as the instigator of the murder.

This morning riotous demonstrations were again made by negroes, who threatened the chief of the fire department, and serious results were anticipated. Finally the matter quieted.

New York, August 12, 1871.

RUSSIAN MINISTER TO BE RECALLED.

A Washington special says that Secretary Fish on the 16th of June instructed Minister Curtin to request the Russian Government to recall Minister Catecazy on account of his prevarications in official transactions, and that Curtin has replied that the Russian Government will recall him and designate M. Bodisco, Russian Consul-General at New York, to take his place.

THE POPE'S RESIDENCE.

The Herald's Rome letters contain the information that the Pope has selected the Island of Corsica as the place of his future retreat, though any determination on his part to leave Rome has not yet been made apparent, and that Cardinal Antonelli had the Chateau Conte placed at the disposal of the Holy Father by M. Ballery, of Marseilles, which is being extensively fitted up for his reception. The publication of the Pope's letter against revolutionary journals has diminished the sale of these sheets about one half, and their total disappearance, at this rate, will be witnessed in a short time; but, notwithstanding this result, the revolutionists were at work with the newspaper organs, and a new journal, entitled Luther, has been projected, which is aimed at the Pope, and replying to a deputation of Roman citizens who had presented him with the Constitution and Peter's Pence, said, that while relying little on the prophecies contained in the book, yet it was written that the time would come when the Holy See would be forced to live upon the charities of the world, but they would never be wanting for money.

FRANK BLAIR ON THE PRESIDENCY.

Senator Frank Blair has been interviewed at Cape May. He says that while some Democrats think the "new departure" is a wise movement, others reject it, and that it is at best but a natural sequence of the Tammany movement, when they put Chase on the list of Presidential candidates. He thinks Missouri safe for a hundred thousand majority in the next Presidential campaign without regard to the "new departure," and that the most available Democratic Presidential candidate is Governor Gratz Brown, who has always been a "new departurist," and who could secure the support of the German Republican departurists, and who could secure the support of the German Republicans of the country on account of his championship of the anti-disenfranchising movement in Missouri, where Grant's treatment of Schurz and the German citizens incensed that class against the Administration, not only in that State, but elsewhere throughout the country.

TENNIE C. CLAFLIN A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

A mass meeting of the Germans last night was addressed by Tennie C. Claflin, who announced herself as a candidate for Congress, she holding that woman was as much entitled to holding a public office as she was to fulfill any other functions incident to citizenship. She said that just as a religious American has the privilege of going to his church on Sunday, so must the right be equally secure. You seek your recreation just where you can find it, and drink your lager in peace and quiet, so long as you don't disturb public order. A series of resolutions accepting her as a candidate for the German Progressive Society were passed.

THE CONTROLLER'S ACCOUNTS.

John Foley, in behalf of the Citizens' Association meeting, has addressed a letter to the Mayor, saying that a faithful copy of the city and county pay-rolls has been demanded, showing to whom and what payments have been made, and also the bills showing the accounts against the city, with the proceedings of the Board, the Supervisor furnishing the particulars in these respects, together with a transcript of the Controller's books as to payments made him. If the Mayor fails to disprova the charges made against him he must at once vacate the office. The letter bears the names of many prominent merchants and bankers.

EMPEROR OF BRAZIL.

The World correspondent, who had interviewed the Emperor of Brazil writes that His Majesty confessed to feelings of preplexity at the state of things in England as respects the condition in which he found the poorer classes of the people. The climate seemed one of the worst features of the country. He was making observations for the benefit of his Empire, and would probably visit the United States when he had finished his European tour.

THE WESTFIELD INVESTIGATION.

The investigation into the causes of the disaster to the Westfield, made by the Board of Local inspectors, being complete so far as regards the taking of testimony, their report was forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington, by Supervising Inspector Lowe, this morning. It is doubtful whether any copies of the report will be furnished before it is published officially by the Secretary at Washington.

CRUELTY TO A SAILOR.

Wm. E. Bray, first mate of the American ship Comet, was up to-day before the United States Commissioner on a charge of cruelty in abusing a seaman named John Dobble. Dobble swears to having been strung up by the thumbs three hours at a time and being brutally beaten and kicked while handcuffed and in chains. Bray was held for an examination.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

The religious denominations who, under the name of the Evangelical Alliance, were to hold a grand convocation here last year, but which the European war then prevented, have decided at the meetings lately assembled in London, to come together in this city in 1873, the excitement of the Presidential election making that year preferable to 1872.

NEW REGIMENTS.

The organization of a new regiment made up of French citizens has been about completed. The Irish citizens have been recently organizing a new regiment, and at a meeting held last night the roll of members was nearly filled. The regiment will be known as the Eighty-eighth and will be officered mainly by men who served in the Irish Brigade.

MURDER.

This morning at two o'clock the police discovered a man lying at the corner of Eighth avenue and Thirtieth street, bleeding from a wound in the head. He died while being removed to the station. He was killed by a blow with some blunt instrument, which fractured the skull. There is no clue to the murderer.

LOUISVILLE.

Change of Gauge.

Louisville, August 12.—The work of changing the gauge of the L. C. & L. short line railway will be commenced at an early hour to morrow morning, and will be pushed through to completion in, it is expected, about the space of five hours. The change is to be from five feet to four feet eight and one-half inches, one rail to be moved, except on the bridges and tressel, where both will be set in. The first narrow gauge train will start from here about six o'clock in the morning to take up the section hands who have been distributed along the line, and they expect to reach Covington some time in the afternoon. The work of making the change will not interfere with a single regular train, as the afternoon train to-morrow will run on schedule time over the new gauge. Much credit is due to the able and energetic officers of the road for the completeness of the arrangements and care they have taken not to interfere with public travel.

RAILWAY TRANSFER.

The Pennsylvania company, which is the bureau represeenting the Pennsylvania Railway Company, managing the interests of the latter company west of Pittsburgh, were here to-day, and completed negotiations with the Jefferson, Madison and Indianapolis Railway and branches, and the Louisville bridge. The Pennsylvania Company purchased about three-fourths of the stock of these corporations, amounting to about two million dollars. Thomas A. Scott was elected President of the Railway and Bridge Companies, Mr. Ricket, the former President, having resigned. A number of the old Directors also resigned, and William Thaw, J. N. McCullough, H. H. Houston, G. B. Roberts, N. J. Jewett and W. P. Shinn were elected in their places. By this arrangement the Pennsylvania Railway Company secures the control of the bridge across the Ohio river at Cincinnati and Louisville, and therefore of all the through lines leading over them to the South and West, giving that company a commanding position in regard to the traffic with those sections. It is understood that liberal arrangements were made with the Ohio and Mississippi Railway, by which it will be enabled to cross the bridge at this point.

THE STATE ELECTION.

Official returns from eighty-four counties give Leslie (Dem.) 110,443 and Harlan (Rep.) 74,124; Leslie's majorities in these counties 36,319. The full returns from the State will probably make Leslie's majority in the neighbood of 40,000. In the eigty-seven counties given Leslie gains 5,391 on the vote for Stevenson (Dem.) in the last gubernatorial race, and Harlan 50,317 on the vote for Baker (Rep.) in the last gubernatorial race.

The sister, not hearing him, also descended. At last accounts two of the bodies had been recovered.

MAINE.

The Recent Railway Accident.

Portland, August 12.—The Maine Central Railway has directed an investigation to be at once made of every bridge of the line of road. The Station Agent at Bangor has been directed to give medical aid to the wounded at the company's expense. The evidence at the Coroner's inquest shows that the bad state of the bridge caused the disaster, but it does not appear that the rottenness of the bridge was known to the officials, although an inspection of the bridge was made in June, when orders were given for strengthening it on account of the heavy strains which it was being subjected to.
